This was ages ago but it was great, the place was huge and packed and the drinks were cheap and the people were friendly

Bournemouth

Helen Lewis

Bournemouth - all over!

This was my last girly weekend with my best mate before I got pregnant so it will forever hold special memories. My friend had free vouchers for the Marriott in Bournemouth which was really posh - lounge, walk-in wardrobe, two huge King-size beds, massive bathroom - the lot! We went out on the first night and popped by loads of bars. Although I'm married my best mate was single at the time and we were literally the only women in the first three bars we went to. We had to double check

Bournemouth

Rachel Denyer

Yates - Bournemouth

Always have the best time in here! Great music, drinks aren't too expensive and the people are great!

Bournemouth

Suzanne Bardi

Slug And Lettuce - Bournemouth

The Slug is one of those bars that is just right day or night. The food is great, as is the atmosphere. This place is great for lunch when I need a break from shopping, and a great place to start the drinks on a night out. Friendly staff, great music and comfy leather seats! Perfect location too to start a messy night out!

Brighton

Holly Armstrong

Pitcher & Piano - Brighton

I shared some brilliant nachos (mine and my friend's fave food) with my old uni housemates and some delicious cocktails recommended by a really helpful waitress. The atmosphere was nice and relaxed and not too busy.

Brighton

Liane Cranfield

My Hotel

Very trendy crowd. Great cocktails. Lovely surroundings

Brighton

Catriona Sutter

Glitter Ball Bar - Brighton Pier

It's a bar with karaoke. There are probably people who would turn their noses up - it isn't a classy or sophisticated venue but it's GREAT FUN! Lots of cheesy songs, glitter and mirrors - also it is joined to Horatios next door so if you're done with the full-on cheese you can go watch the band in the other bar. The atmosphere is a bit silly and lighthearted with hen, stag, birthday and office parties plus groups of adult holidaymakers having a laff

Brighton

Siobhan McCallum

Walkabout - Brighton

The staff were all friendly (they remembered us from lunch time). Also, they had good special offers on the drinks which made us have an enjoyable time as we did not have to worry about our money running out! Had a great laugh!

Bristol

Bethany Crowe

HausBar - Bristol

They sell the most amazing cocktails. They are never too crowded but they always have a really fun bunch of people in there and it's a smart place to go in a pair of killer heels and have a good gossip!

Bristol

Meghan Young

Piano & Pitcher - Bristol

This classy bar on the waterfront was perfect for a night out with the girls. I felt like I could have been an extra in 'The Hills' (MTV programme) as it had all necessary for the LA chic style decor and yummy cocktails - particularly the Easy Mango.

Bristol

Michaela Hamblin

The Picture House

The menus are complemented by the well stocked bar with an eclectic mix of cocktails, and a fine range of spirits. The knowledgeable bar staff will be happy to recommend something you are guaranteed to want to sample again – and again! There is also a wide range of New World wines, hinting at owner Nick Armitages' New Zealand connections.

Cambridge

A great selection of beautiful and tasty cocktails - each a work of art in its own right! The staff are friendly, flirty and mostly male, and they also serve yummy tapas. AMY BUSBRIDGE

Cardiff

Loads of different and interesting bars and clubs.

Cardiff

Joanne Baker

Tiger Tiger

Tiger Tiger is free to get in before 10pm and is great for a sophisticated, safe and fun night out. You'll need some cash after happy hour when a spirit and mixer hit £6 per drink! But that aside, the music is perfect for boogying the night away with either the club sounds upstairs or the more cheesy tracks downstairs. Or hire a booth for you and friends to have your own little base for the night, starting with some nibbles while catching up on the girlie gossip before the party

Cardiff

Amy Burfitt

Tiger Tiger

All the girls were on a high and happy and we were celebrating a friends birthday! We had lots of lovely cocktails and danced the night away - and managed to have a McDonalds on the way home! AWESOME

It sells tons of different beers from around Europe including Belgium and Germany, for something a bit different. Also it is in an Arts Centre, so there's always something interesting going on, like cinema or theatre. Plus, there's a good cafe to eat at!

Carlisle

Pam Gardner

Cafe Sol Cassa and Unit - Carlisle

All 3 bars are very different. Cafe Sol is a great starting point for cocktails and a good gossip inside or outside of the bar. Cassa has a great DJ who plays a variety of music so you and the girls can have a good boogie. Unit is very hip, serving cocktails and playing more chilled music but still good to dance to

So, a group of friends, who hadn't seen each other in a long time, due to geographical locations and marriages, met up in Edinburgh and visited the chic and cosy Brambles bar. Being Sex in the City fans, we attempted to re-create our own version of a night on the tiles ala Edinburgh.

Edinburgh

Susan Fong

Henry J Beans - Edinburgh

I have never been much of a drinker BUT, I do love a good cocktail! Not only do they do a great happy hour (2 cocktail for 1), It's bang in the middle of town. The bar is not too upmarket but not like your local pub down the street when you can bump into God knows who. A great place to let your hair down and have a good giggle. Great selection of cocktails.

Edinburgh

Lynda Pender

Tiger Lily - George Street

Hip place to be seen

Edinburgh

Pauline Jamieson

The Voodoo Rooms - West Register Street

The decadent historic interior. The room is a great space - very gothic and appealing to the inner vampire. Then there are some of the best cocktail mixers in town behind the bar - try the Yetz's Legacy! with butterscotch and ginger foam on top. Then there is great entertainment most nights in the events room with music, cabaret, comedy.....depends on the night.

St Germain is a bar/restaurant, and it's a regular choice for a girl's night, usually in the bar. A fabulous, sophisticated chocolate and white decor and friendly (and often gorgeous) waiters welcome you when you walk through the door. The cocktail list is tremendous - the Amour Rouge and Bellini get my vote. The wine list is dangerously good. The wine is all stacked up on the wall behind the bar, and the more expensive the bottle, the higher it is.

The Hobbit - Southampton

The Hobbit is more of a pub than a bar, but to be honest it's difficult to pin down because it's so different from most places in Southampton or even the UK. There are several different floors and rooms in The Hobbit, and a huge beer garden with benches and different levels that make it perfect for a summer's evening (or a warm winter one!). They offer a cocktail menu that's an absolut bargain (£3 for a pint glass) and each cocktail is named after a character in Lord of The Rings

Reflex

A great location for a hen do especially if all the girls are 80's children. Every song was our favourite from the 80s, we could dress up in 80s clothes and still be bang on trend and drink little bottles of cherry Lambrini through a straw. The people in Chester were friendly, good fun and made a big fuss of our hen.

The most important thing a club needs to have and this club has it! Great music and a good sized dance floor. There are two levels playing different styles of music. Good deals on drinks too. I love Fabric as they always have good DJs every Friday or Saturday night. It's a massive club so I never get bored. This place is wicked and makes you feel like you're on another planet with it's Mork & Mindy loo's. The cocktails are great, the dance floor is just big enough and it's exclusive, so definitely for an extra special night out as my budget doesn't normally allow me to drink there.

London

Emily Phillips

Roller Disco, Vauxhall

I went to a roller disco at the weekend and it was brilliant! It was a real girls' night out. We dressed up in awful outfits - bright pink tights, leg warmers, rara skirts and we even got out the old crimpers. We partied all night! Granted you are partying on roller skates which is a bit tricky at first but you soon get used to it. You just have to be brave and go for it. I would recommend it to anyone for a girls night out or for a birthday party or hen do.

La Floridita Wardour St

It happens to us all. You're in a popular spot on a Saturday night. You look around you and the average age seems to be 12. It's time for a change. And that is what this bar is, a real change. It isn't you 'usual salsa' bar (full of sweaty gross old fools trying to get lucky), this is the real deal. Your night begins with an introduction to the sensational sounds of Cuba from a live Cuban band. Every week is something new. Make sure you have your Mojito in hand to assure authenticity!

London

Vivienne Man

The Electric Birdcage, Haymarket

Milton Keynes

Caroline Howlton

Pink Punters

This is a gay, lesbian and transgender bar but loads of straight people go. Great for a girls night out or even bring the boys as they don't get hassled or frustrated by men hitting on their girlfriends. It has 3 floors, dance and R'n'B downstairs, then pop and chart on entry level then quiet area upstairs. Big open fires outside in the smoking area, BBQ's on special occasions and open until 5am. It's not possible to go and have a bad time, you'll be dancing as soon as you get in.

Milton Keynes

Emma Thorne

Oceana

Oxford

Bar Risa and Jongleurs

Jongleurs is one of the larger clubs in Oxford and usually has some good drinks promos. Downstairs has plenty of space to sit for a chat and usually has different music to upstairs. Upstairs the music is usually some good old Oxford cheese, so if that's what you love it's the place to be.

The Rhino Club

The Rhino Club nestles between Bedford Place and London Road at the top of Southampton High Street and is open most nights playing a variety of different music (their indie/alternative night on a Wednesday is particularly good). There are two floors of music but the club strikes a good balance between it being big enough for it not to be crowded but small enough so that there's still a great atmosphere. At the weekend it gets busy but it's perfect if you want a good night out.

Ikina Hair Studio

Not your typical, 'too busy looking at their own hair' hairdresser. Most girls I know don't particularly like visiting the really big names places as they can sometimes feel very intimidated. Ikina only has one hairdresser, but the cut is always what you want, and a great price. You never feel ripped off, and always leave feeling satisfied. The hairdresser is very experienced and friendly, not only does it take half the time as some other places, it doesn't feel like a huge ordeal.

Edinburgh

Barn dance! I will never forget my 40th birthday. I was collected in a horse and cart, dressed for the occasion along with all my guests as the wild west bunch dressed as cowgirls and cowboys. On arriving at the barn Shania Twain was belting out from the speakers and people where lining up at the saloon bar ordering their tucker of rack of ribs and a cold beer. The bucking bronco was hilarious and the can-can girls put on a spectacular show. We watched a Wild Bills shoot out then took to the floor for line dancing. I have never had such a good old knees up as I did that night.

Lorenzo's - Crystal Palace

Officially the best Italian restaurant in London, Lorenzo's is a local haunt so I decided it would be a great venue to organise a pre-wedding girly night for one of my best mates. She didn't want any fuss so it was all a huge surprise. I booked a massive table downstairs and got everyone there, told her we'd go out for a meal just the two of us. Her face was a picture! She loved every minute of it and the food was - as always - top notch.

Its friendly, relaxed with fantastic frozen cocktails like mango and blueberry margaritas! Harrods

They have really nice big comfy chairs with footbaths where you can have a pedicure whilst sitting next to a friend and having a chat. Most places seem to shut you away in a room on your own when you're having treatments, so it's great to be able to sit with a friend whilst being pampered.

London

The Sanctuary Spa - Covent Garden

All the luxury, top quality products, service and treatments you expect from a spa of this standard but the nicest thing about it was that everyone there seemed to be having a lovely time appreciating the special occasion treat they were experiencing! Great restaurant too - a heavenly day.

The Sanctuary Spa - Covent Garden

Maybe a little obvious but it's still a little quiet enclave just off Covent Garden. As the name says, a true sanctuary. Girls only so you can sway on their pool swing completely starkers if you fancy it! When you're done pampering it's a hop and skip to the bars and shops of Covent Garden.

Mayfair Hotel Spa

Whilst located at the heart of the city, once entering the very plush hotel, you're whisked off downstairs into what can only be described as total serenity (dark marble floors, walls, streaming water, sorbet after each treatment and herbal tea, heated marble beds). Following my pamper session we then went to Fortnum & Mason for a breakfast lunch of scrambled eggs & smoked salmon on toast. For high tea picked up cakes from Patisserie Valerie.

Lots of pampering in a relaxing environment. You leave feeling glowing and healthy but it's not too strict. The food is fantastic and you can have wine with

Just got back from a "quick escape" spa weekend just 20 mins outside London and had such an amazing time. If it's some time out with the girls you're after with a touch of class then you'll be hard pushed to beat it. With lunch on arrival we chose our spa treatments and then lazed in the sunshine in a beautiful setting, with the occasional dip in the pool. Then we had champagne cocktails on the terrace (there were no drinks menus you just tell them what you want!).
